Dear Families

I hope this email finds you well and refreshed after the summer holidays.

As we approach a new school year, The Young Professionals are more committed than ever to providing life-changing opportunities to students across the UK, and they are looking forward to continuing to work with our school to provide these opportunities for our students over the coming year.

They have a host of incredibly exciting events planned over the coming months, starting with our September 'Kick off' Events. These events will provide students with exposure to various career paths, and to ask questions directly to some of the biggest employers in the world. Across the week they will be joined by the likes of PwC, Amazon, Goldman Sachs, the RAF, BT and many more!

Last year they were joined by over 10,000 students virtually across the week so we would love to see some of our students this year!

Please note, all of these sessions will take place virtually, and are completely free of charge. Once students register, they will receive further information as well as a zoom link to the event.
